Dugout of Charleroi Post of the American Legion Will Soon Present An Entirely Changed Appearance — Public Inspection Later

ROUSING MEETING IS HELD

Definite Steps Towards the Organization of a Legion Boy Scout Troop — Legion's Side of Compensation Bill Will Be Presented At Public Meeting

The Dugout of the Charleroi Post, No. 22, American Legion, was the scene of an interesting and enthusiastic meeting of the Post last evening, when, with a very large attendance, a business session lasting over three hours took place.

One of the chief features of interest was the report of the House committee relative to the improvements that have been in progress for the past week in the Dugout. A huge cupboard is being erected and is practically completed in the large room of the Dugout to contain the gun case, flag case, and for ample room for dishes. An addition of a wash room has also been made. The pool and billiard table has been rearranged, and an electric light placed on the alley side entrance. Many new improvements are forthcoming, however, it was learned last night through the report of the committee. The interior of the rooms are to be painted and decorated and the members have contracted for some new furniture and pictures of a portion of the presidents of the United States in addition to that of General John Pershing. At the completion of all these improvements the Legion is planning to have a public opening. Arrangements are also being made to secure the lease of the living room and kitchen, located in the rear of the Legion rooms. If an entrance can be provided from the Legion room to the adjoining rooms, the Post will take them over, which will be a decidedly fine improvement.

Definite steps were taken last night toward the organization of a Legion Boy Scout troop.

The national campaign week of the American Legion relative to the presentation to the public of the Legion's side of the soldier's compensation bill to take place February 10 to 17, will be appropriately carried out in Charleroi by the local post, and one

London, Feb. 8.—(United Press).—The Prince of Wales suffered a broken collar bone when he fell from his horse at the Billington steeplechase today.

His doctor said it is a simple fracture and that the prince probably will be able to ride again in a few weeks.

The Prince was practicing for a race at the end of this month and tumbled at a fence.

At first it was believed he had suffered only a minor injury to his shoulder and he was taken to a local physician later motoring to his hotel with his arm in a sling.

Examination however, revealed the fractured collar bone.

At York House, the London residence of the Prince, it was announced he was returning immediately to the capital.

A NATURAL FACILITY IS DEATH DOOM

Quebec, Feb. 8—(U. P.)—Swept off into darkness down the ice-choked St. Lawrence when a natural ice bridge went out with a thunderous roar, five persons were missing early today and feared drowned. A sixth man was see by witnesses to throw up his hands and sink in the swirling icy waters.

The bridge formed at the mouth of a ferry boat which makes daily trips between Quebec and Levis. Many persons took advantage of the natuual passageway to cross over on the ice, thus formed for the first time in 28 years.

An undetermined number were crossing when there came a warning crack above the rushing of the waters and the groaning of the ice. From both shores at once, the ice bridge separated with a terrific report and drifted with increasing speed down the river. Those trapped aboard the ice screamed for help and soon the lights of the fire engines flickered along both banks in pursuit, but the bridge was borne off into the gather-in darkness with a half dozen persons aboard at least one of them, witnesses said, drowned.

Legion Members May Become Fire Fighters

Wilkes-Barre, Feb. 8. — (United Press).—A movement to organize the members of the American Legion as forest fire fighters, which it is hoped will become country wide, has been started here and already five posts have organized fire patrols in Luzerne county.

The movement will result in the saving of millions of dollars in valuable timber, preserving game and birds, and the safe guarding of lives, according to its sponsors who hope to have a score of patrols in this county in time for the spring fire fighting season. There are 19 Legion posts in the county.

The national headquarters of the Legion has written the local posts asking about the work and it is hoped to interest them in other sections of the country.

SUIT IN THE COURT OVER WASH BOILER

Right of the Commonwealth to Seize the Same Is Involved — William Abel, Owner, At the Time It Is Seized

MYSERY ABOUT UNTENSIL

Peculiar Construction For a Boiler—Attorney Vernon Hazzard Raises Question of Law That Its Seizure Is Illegal — Claim Made Not Being Used

When is a wash boiler not a wash boiler, or a wash boiler, a boiler, that is the question? Involving the possession of one copper wash boiler, which by appearances has been utilized for purposes foreign to washings, Judge James I. Brownson sat at a hearing to determine the right of the commonwealth to seize this boiler. William Abel, the owner of the receptable at the time it was seized, seeks to have it returned, denying it was used for any unlawful purpose, and particularly not for making "hooch."

The boiler was probably originally worth about $3 or $4, but in its present condition is not worth much over 50 cents, unless it would be for some one who wanted to distill a little private stock. However by the time the litigation involving the boiler is paid for the copper in the boiler will be very valuable metal.

Assistant District Attorney Thomas Anderson represented the commonwealth and Attorney Vernon Hazzard, of Monongahela, the defendant. He raised the question of law that the seizure of the boiler was illegal. It was taken from a house boat, moored along the river here. Considerable alleged "liquor" was also taken. The defense claimed the boiler was not in the house boat, but on a flat boat nearby, and was not being used for liquor making.

Attorney Hazzard said the defendant had been much "grieved" by reason of the boiler being taken, "two Mondays having passed and he having nothing in which to boil his clothes for washing."

If a wash boiler, it is of peculiar construction. The lid is soddered on, it showed it has been used much over a fire, and in the top of the lid is a specially constructed opening with a lid fitting it, this opening being somewhat like the opening in the

LOOKING INTO SCHEME TO FLOOD LIQUOR HERE

Philadelphia, Feb 8 — (United Press)—The special grand jury of the United States district court today resumed its investigations into an alleged mail order bootlegging scheme to flood the country with liquor smuggled [illegible] the United States from the Bahamas.

Henry B. Friedman, assistant United States district attorney, intimated that indictments would be returned against several persons including Isaac Bullifant, a glassware merchant, who is alleged to have evolved the mail order bootlegging scheme.

Twelve witnesses are to be heard by the grand jury today, Friedman said.

LONE STAR STATE ELECTROCUTES NEGROES

Huntsville, Texas, Feb. 8.—(United Press).—Five negro murderers were electrocuted at the state prison here today as the state inaugurated electrocution as its means of legal execution in place of hanging.

Captain Edwin W. Patton has received word from the headquarters of the Third Corps Area, Camp Meade, Maryland, that Charleroi has been selected as the town for the headquarters of Company B, 394th Infantry of the 99th division, Organized Reserves. Mr. Patton is now instituting preparations for its establishment here and in a short time will start recruiting in the borough and vicinity. The officers will be as follows

Captain Edwin W. Patton, commanding officer, first lieutenant, William J. Mathias of this place; first lieutenant, Charles P. Neighen of Waynesburg, second lieutenant, Lloyd M. Norris, of Harveys Pa.; second lieutenant, Thomas R. Sharpnack, of Rices Landing.

The Organized Reserves are the third component of the Army of the United States. They provide a trained, organized and balanced force which may be readily expanded and developed into an adequate war component to meet any major emergency requiring the use of troops in excess of those of the Regular Army and the National Guard. They are purely a war force, and can be employed only in the event of a national emergency.

Captain Patton also announces that seventy-three is the quota of young men that will be allowed to be sent to the Citizens Military Summer comp from Washington county this summer.

Locals Beat Duquesne In Spirited Game

Last night Charleroi Girls' Basketball team defeated Duquesne with a score of 26-6. Heretofore Duquesne had not been beaten and stood a good chance to win the championship of Western Pennsylvania. Now that Charleroi has beaten them, the locals are in line for the championship. The locals have been defeated but once: in the first game of the season against Steubenville they were beaten. But as Steubenville is not in Pennsylvania this will not stop the team from winning the championship. However, there are several hard teams still to be played.

The locals were decidedly off their game last night in spite of the good work done last Saturday, and in practice. Unfortunately, Philips was off her shooting, but nevertheless did good enough work to win the game. Allen played well, making one basket and giving splendid support to Phillips. The two form a combination which no team in the district has been able to beat. The guards on the team should receive credit for the way they stopped Duquesne from scoring, and the center and side center did good work in getting the tip-off and passing the ball. Notwithstanding these features, the girls did not play nearly as good basketball as they have many times in the past, and, it is hoped, will play many times in the future.

On Tuesday, February 12, the team plays Monessen. This one will be a very exciting game. Charleroi played Monessen in Monessen on January 25, beating them 35-14. It was a fast, rough game, and the one played here Tuesday will probably be a duplicate in speed, although it is hoped that ability and good sportsmanship will replace roughness. The summary:

Charleroi—16		Duquesne—6
Phillips	F	Sernick
Allen	F	Buric
Alsopp	C	Stulginski
Woodward	SC	Koehler
Wilson	G	Ashbar
Cratty	G	Stevens

Field goals—Charleroi. Phillips 4, Allen 1. Duquesne Sernick 1, Buric 1.

TAKING OVER MINES WOULD COST MILLION

Harrisburg, Feb 8 — (United Press).—If the state ever decides to take over the anthracite mines of Pennsylvania it will have to compensate owners considerably over one billion dollars for their property, according to figures of the U. S. Coal Commission now in the hands of the state geological survey.

In the bulletin of the Department of Forests and Waters, it is pointed out that the estimated value of anthracite coal sufficient to keep in operation the present plants for 40 years is $843,500,000 and the reserve tonnage of $146,400,000, making a total value of $989,900,000. But it is pointed out that to purchase these properties considerably more would have to be paid.

The total value of all coal according to the Coal Commission figures for the whole country is approximately $12,500,000,000.

RICE STOPPED BY DEMARCO

Cuddy DeMarco stopped Frankie Rice of Baltimore in the fifth round of a scheduled 10-round encounter at the Palisades Rink, McKeesport, last night. The consensus of opinion is that Rice did not receive a k. o. punch but took the easiest way out. He was fined $100 and suspended for the period of one year. All Rice did was to cover and run away from Cuddy.

Jimmy McGirr and James Davenport did themselves proud when they lined up the set of preliminaries. The semi-final brought together K. O. Ferry of McKeesport and Young Saylor of Charleroi. These rivals put up one of the best six-round mills that the bugs in the Tube City have witnessed in many moons. From bell to bell they slugged and mixed, with the Charleroi entry holding the edge with his better boxing ability. Both judges agreed on Saylor.

The second contest was featured by a slugger and a boxer. Young Penno of McKees Rocks, former amateur champion welterweight, was pitted against Walter Dickinson of California, Pa. Penno carried the battling to Dickerson all through the six rounds of some excitable milling. The judges disagreed and the referee awarded the mix to Dickerson, which did not seem to please the crowd.

The opener was a great battle in which Young Grygo of McKeesport defeated Pat Gallagher of Pittsburgh in six rounds of hard scrapping. The judges were Jack Adams of Pittsburgh and Mr. Minahan of McKeesport. Joe Keally was the third man in the ring for all contaests.

ARNSTEIN IS IN LOTS OF TROUBLE

New York, Feb 8—(United Press)—Shortly after word was received from Youngstown, Ohio, that Jules W. (Nicky) Arnstein, whose jail sentences for complicity in a $5,000,000 bond theft was upheld in Washington Tuesday, was wanted there for an alleged wire tapping swindle, Arnstein was in difficulty with the police here.

He was arrested for violation of an automobile parking rule, following a row with a policeman who, it is said, insisted on arresting Arnstein's wife, Fannie Brice, Follies actress, when she stopped her car in forbidden space.

Arnstein was discharged when arraigned in night court and was not arrested on the Ohio charge because at that time the New York police had not been notified of it He is now being sought in Washington.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of our darling baby, Minerva Luella Bradluy, who died one year ago today, February 8, 1923.

Oft and Oft our hearts do wander
To a grave quite far away
Where they laid our darling baby,
Just one year ago today.

Her loving face we see no more,
A voice we loved is stilled.
A place is vacant in our home,
Which never can be filled.

Sadly missed by father, mother, sister and brothers. 208t1p

It Has Happened.

At the club they were discussing marriage and a girl's opportunities for making a good one. Some contended that a society girl stood the best chance. Others maintained that girls in business life met substantial men every day, and consequently often made excellent matches. Sensational marriages made by ladies of the chorus were mentioned, and then the talk veered around to department stores.

Said one member: "Many of these salesladies are beautiful. Many a girl is married from a department store."

A RELIC OF LINCOLN

Miss Catherine Jones of the Chicago Historical Society is seen trying on a huge wooden skate which was presented to President Lincoln. The reason for the odd gift is shrouded in mystery; but it is believed the big skate was intended as a practical joke in reference to Lincoln's large feet—a joke which he, with his penchant for practical jests, could appreciate and enjoy.

BROTHER DIMMED HER LIGHT

The Knoxes had just moved from the city to a New Jersey town where friendly couples come in to call after supper and housekeepers run in any time of the day to exchange the news.

Anita, six-year-old only daughter of the family, while pleased with the new surroundings and delighted with the friends she was making still felt it her duty, being from the city, to maintain certain formalities, says the New York Evening Mail. Her mother was therefore amused and a little dismayed at unexpected airs her small daughter assumed with the neighbors' children. However, they appeared to take it in good part and for a week Anita seemed in a fair way to become the social leader of her new circle.

If this was her ambition, however, she reckoned without her four-year-old brother, "Boy." The other day when she was exhibiting her dolls to two youthful callers and entertaining them with an extended and perhaps slightly exaggerated account of city life, "Boy" came in from play.

He cast a single look at her pursed lips and proud manner, listened in for a moment to her conversation, then shoved her rudely out of his way. "Aw, you're only a nut," he commented in brotherly fashion. And Anita hasn't tried the highbrow role since.

BABY KANGAROO TINY THING

A kangaroo at birth weighs about eight or nine grains, is a trifle more than an inch long and not much thicker than an ordinary lead pecil, according to George F. Morse, Jr., of the Chicago Zoological society.

How the baby kangaroo was born was until recently a mystery to zoologists, Mr. Morse said, because, since it is a pouch animal, the actual birth was difficult to witness.

"One day I noticed that one of our kangaroos was acting strangely, so I got the head keeper to put it in a separate room used for the observation of animals," Mr. Morse declared. "We watched closely for a long time, and finally were rewarded by the appearance of a tiny thing not more than an inch long on the tail of the mother kangaroo. It was a baby.

"We took it and found it weighed about nine grains. It was an inch and one-sixteenth long, and not broader than a lead pencil. It was a perfectly formed kangaroo, with the exception of the hind legs, the matured kangaroo's powerful propeller. These developed later as the baby animal grew. The front legs, however, were perfectly formed, and were used by the baby to climb back into the mother's pouch, where it remains for a period of seven months."

Reading by the Body.

Professor Galeazzi, speaking at the Orthopaedic congress in Rome, described an appliance enabling blind people to use the Braille system, even though they have lost their hands. It consists of an ivory die having on one side six electric contacts. The die is fixed to one of the maimed arms, and when the man rubs the Braille letters with it, the ivory surface, by means of electric wires which touch the abdomen, sends sensations which vary according to the distribution of the dots of the Braille letters. Each letter provokes a set of peculiar sensations which will be received by the body.

The Vocal Selection.

A little girl six years old was much interested in the preparation for her sister's wedding.

"Sister, I want to sing at your wedding," she said.

"No, dear, you can't sing."

"But I can and I want to," she pleaded.

"What would you sing?" her father asked her.

Plan Lincoln University.

The Abraham Lincoln university may become a reality if the plans of 200 business and professional men of Springfield, Ill., carry. Effort is to be made to raise $500,000 to begin organization of the school which will be built and conducted according to the democratic ideals of the martyred president. Within a few months a committee will begin a drive to raise a permanent endowment of $5,000,000.

Big Typhoon Hits Hongkong.

The worst typhoon since 1906 recently struck the British crown colony of Hongkong, China. The wind attained a velocity of 130 miles an hour, uprooting huge trees and throwing them about like matches. The typhoon lashed the waters of the harbor into a white fury, sinking many ships, including a British submarine. The death toll among the inhabitants was heavy.

New Alloy Looks Like Gold.

A young French chemist named Mazarin has invented a new alloy resembling gold, and it has been called "aureum." It has the brightness, durability and inoxidability of gold, which qualities will permit its substitution in jewelry and other manufactures where gold is now used.

CREDIT DUE FIREMEN.

Charleroi firemen are again in the limelight by virtue of their newly purchased equipment, which, when it arrives, in about four months, will not only aid them in their fire-fighting work, but will prove further effective paraphernalia in the protection of property interests of the borough whether they be public business, or private.

It reflects greatly to their credit that the local firemen are ever doing those things which reflect so favorably on them individually collectively. They are always on the job, alert, willing, and anxious in time of extremity, and they can give the average paid or volunteer fire department "trumps" in the game of fire-fighting—and emerge the winners.

Charleroi borough has a number of commendable societies, noted for their charitable and philanthropic work, but among them all, with due credit given, is any one of them a public benefactor to greater extent than is the Charleroi General Fire department? We sometimes lose sight of the boys, but we cannot lose sight of their deeds, which are inscribed high on the escutcheon of the borough's fame.

MORE EVOLUTION.

The Governor and the Board of Education of North Carolina have made formal objection to the teaching of evolution in the public schools of that State, and Governor Morrison is quoted as saying: "Evolution means progress but does not mean that man, God's highest creation, is descended from a monkey or any other animal. I do not believe he is, and I will not consent that any such doctrine or intimation of such doctrine shall be taught in our public schools." This should not create any great alarm outside of North Carolina, for the young students of that State who read current literature will be taught evolution fast enough. But the editor of the New York World sees fit to take up the matter and tells Governor Morrison that he is wrong not only in his attitude but in his concept of evolution

"Evolution," says the World, 'does not necessarily mean progress but only the development of one type from another. Neither does it mean the descent of man from the monkey. It is not yet clear to any anthropologist orgeologist just what line of descent was followed in the development of man." It must have seemed pretty clear to Darwin, for in his "Descent of Man" (number 1014) he wrote that "man is descended from a hairy, tailed quadruped probably arboreal in its habits," and in number 278 of the same work, referring to the simiadae monkeys) of the New and Old World, he wrote that 'from the latter, at a remote period man proceeded." Whatever the nature of the modifications of the original theory of evolution preented by later writers, it is certain that man's descent from a lower animal (monkey) form was distinctly taught by Darwin.

BREEDING WOLVES.

It seems that even the wolf has come back to Pennsylvania, where, owing to the enforcement of the game laws, there is now reported a greater abundance of wild life than there was fifty years ago. The editor of the Altoona (Pa.) Tribune, a member of the forestry commission, writes entertaingly of a "wolf farm" established by Dr. E. H. McCleery on the top of the Alleghenies at Kane. The animals he is breeding there are a Western variety of large size known as the buffalo wolf. According to the editor mentioned, the ferocity of these wolves has been much exaggerated: they are playful and even "affectionate" upon occasion. We think it likely, however, that if the people of the neighboring countryside are consulted they will never be let loose to follow their native instincts through forest and farm. Says the Altoona Tribune:

"Dr. McCleery possesses perfect control over his pack of wolves; they fawn on him and play all over him, and would defend him from other wolves or human foes, if he were attacked. Yet the doctor is a small slight man, hard as nails but no match should his menagerie pounce on him en masse. It is a pity that there are not more persons who are interested in wild life and the preservation of vanishing species. S. W. Whitaker, an official of the Baltimore & Ohio at Pittsburgh, has some [illegible] wolves obtained in the [illegible]

WHAT ARE YOU DOING?

Boost and the world boosts with you, knock, and you're on the shelf; for the world gets sick of the one who kicks, and wishes he'd kick himself.

Another good way to save is to make more money than you can conveniently spend.

It is the art of salesmanship that really keeps us poor.

Another way to make an ass of a man is to interview him and let nature take its course.

DRUGGIST'S PARODY ON "BANANAS"

There's a druggist in every town
With a pretty store.
When a customer comes around,
He sees things galore;
Yet most everything he wants.
This man's always out,
Sadly through his shelves he'll jaunt
Then you'll hear him shout.
—Chorus—
Yes, we have no Castoria.
We have no more Tanlac today,
There's Pluto, Unguentine and Ex Lax
And Lysol and Lydia Pinkham's too.
We've got some old-fashioned senna.
Catnip and henna, but
Yes, we have no more Swamproot,
We have no Peruna today.

Engineers say the White House is unsafe. Just the same, prospective tenants are very numerous.

Some men who are never able to save a cent think if they only had a few dollars to start with it would be easy to accumulate a fortune.

Ours will be a happier world when the radicals learn to smile.

Trouble with some folks is that they let the milk of human kindness sour in the bottle.

WHERE TRADITION AND MODERNISM MEET

The oldest museum in America has been intrusted to the direction of a woman. One hundred and fifty years ago the fathers of the Carolinas who had settled Charleston established the first scientific museum in America. About that time the wife of the governor of Connecticut became insane. Governor Winthrop of Massachusetts, with all the dignity of his office and his colonial scholarship, announced: "Had she not gone out of her way and calling to meddle in such things as are proper for men, whose minds are stronger, she had kept her wits." Yet the poor governor's lady was far, in her simple desire for reading, from seeking such knowledge as would fit her to be curator of a scientific institution.

Miss Laura M. Bragg, however, is said to be quite able to keep her wits, for she is credited not only with being the woman who has placed the museum on a sound financial basis. In addition, her staff is so completely imbued with her vision that the educational service rendered the community, has astonished the museum board of governors.

An exhibit added through her foresight consists of ancient pestles and mortars and the early American glass bottles which accumulated in the oldest drug store in Charleston When it was moved to modern quarters, the antique equipment was destined for the dump heap until Miss Bragg asked to make it one of the most interesting exhibits of the museum.

Daughter of a Methodist minister, she seems always to have understood people. A young B. S., fresh from technical training in biology and library work, she started a museum at Owl's Island, Me., consisting mainly of fish and shells of the vicinity, which greatly interested the native population. Visitors to the convention of the American Association of Museums, which met in Charleston in April to celebrate the one hundred and fiftieth birthday of the museum, found the same commingling of scientific and neighborhood spirit in Miss Bragg's work Alongside the rare antique furniture of the old South which draws connoisseurs from afar, are classes in modeling for Charleston children, and in simple research for their elders.

Wife Doing Good Work.

"I have been bad off with stomach and liver trouble and bloating for many years. No doctors or medicine helped me. On the advice of my druggist, I bought a bottle of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy and I don't want to miss a single dose. It has given me more benefit than all the medicine I have ever taken. I feel I am doing good to recommend it to others" It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. At all druggists.

The news comes from Chicago that across 2,000 miles of space listeners-in heard the heart beats of an operator who held against his chest a microphone attached to a radio transmitting set. If Romeo and his Juliet could only have worked that trick their woes would have been fewer and their misunderstandings none.

SCOUT DUFFLE BAG

BY H. S. HALL,
Scout Executive.

COUNCIL CHAMPIONSHIP.

An elimination contest has been held in each town to determine which troops are to represent their town in the Council Championship meet which will be held in Donora about February 15, at the Sixth Street school. The following troops have been selected to represent the various towns, and are preparing eagerly to meet the best troops from the other towns, in determining which troop is the best in the Council, in Scouting activities: Charleroi, No. 4, of the Presbyterian Church, under Scoutmaster McIsaac, and No. 1, the Community troop under Scoutmaster Lawrence Frye. Monongahela, No. 2, of the Presbyterian Church, under Scoutmaster McIsaac, and Assistant Simpson; No. 1, the Rotary troop, under Scoutmaster Kinports. Monessen, No. 2, of the Methodist Church, under Scoutmaster Blackburn, and No. 1, the American Haney. Donora, Troop No. 8, under Scoutmaster Murray, and No. 2 under Scoutmaster McMahon.

In addition to these troops, those boys who won first place in the events who are not members of winning troops, have been invited to compete in the Council meet for individual prizes. The trophies will include a large handsome embossed shield for the Council trophy. The troop winning this shield has its name engraved on it, and retains possession of it until the next. Should a troop win this shield three successive times, it then retains permanent possession. There will also be one troop prize and several individual prizes in the form of bronze and silver medals. The individual medals will be given for knot-tying, signaling, fire by friction, and First Aid. The best drilled patrol will receive a large pennant properly inscribed. Another pennant will be given the team which wins the wall scaling race. This meet will be under the direction of the Scout Executive, Hiram S Hall, with several Scout Executives of the surrounding Councils acting in the capacity of judges.

The parents are invited to watch these demonstrations and many of the townspeople will doubtless accompany their Scouts when they come up for these events.

ANNIVERSARY WEEK.

The Boy Scouts of America will celebrate their 14th Anniversary, from Feb. 8 to Feb. 14 The movement has grown and developed greatly since it was first incorporated, and so great has been the development that it now reaches out into every civic organization and every conceivable group which has any social relationship with its fellowmen. In practically every civilized nation there are Boy Scouts who adhere to the same code and who are training themselves to be better men. The local Council has been formed for but 10 months, having its birth on April 9. It has in like manner been reaching out into the district under its jurisdiction. Its objective is developing boyhood, who that our boys will be able to thing for themselves and for others, and to teach them patriotism, courage, self-reliance and kindred virtues. For the first these boys are becoming united and celebrating this national event.

During this week each troop is making an effort to put some special feature in its week's program. The boys are requested to wear their uniform in church on Sunday, February 10, especially those who belong to troops sponsored by Churches. Lincoln's Birthday also has a deep significance, at which time each troop will hold a special program built around his name.

There are many things in general that the public does not know about the Boy Scout movement, but this fact has been amply demonstrated, that it is an investment in boyhood, and it brings big dividends, by making better boys.

ATTENDANCE PRIZE DONATED.

Mr. J. Scott Skelly has again shown his great interest in the boys in Monongahela who are in the Scout movement, by offering to donate a $25 prize to the troop in Monongahela which has the highest and best record in the following phases of Scouting, in a three-months period: 1, the highest attendance at troop meetings. 2, the largest number of second class Scouts; and 3, the largest number of God Turns dne in that period. A regular point system has been worked out. Each Scoutmaster is to keep his own records, at the end of which time a Committee of Judges will go over his records and award the prize. The interest that Mr. Skelly has shown in developing Scouting among the boys in Monongahela displays the attitude which the men in the Monongahela Valley have toward Scouting. It is this kind of material support that enables Scouting to grow and produce the kind of boys we should have.

Kittens are like brides they have their eyes open in nine days—and here we thought it was the other way round.

Buick "Steps Out From The Field!"

It is doubtful if automobile history had ever witnessed such an outpouring of interest, comment and admiration as were bestowed upon the new Buicks.

The public instantly recognized that in appearance, construction, mechanical excellence and noteworthy features, the 1924 Buicks established a new standard of measuring motor car value.

Particular interest centered upon the 70 H. P. valve-in-head motor—the proved Buick four-wheel brakes—the new body designs and the innumerable other features that contributed so markedly to comfort, safety and driving satisfaction.

Buick invites closest inspection and most careful scrutiny of these models. Such procedure coupled with the slightest degree of driving acquaintance—a demonstration will gladly be provided—is sufficient to reveal why Buick continues to be the Standard of Comparison.

ANGRY PATIENT MAY HAVE STARTED FIRES

The Monessen fire department was called out early last evening to extinguish two fires that were mysteriously similar in character and occurring within a half hour of one another. At six o'clock an alarm was sounded and the firemen hurriedly responded to the waiting room of Dr. J. F Whitson, 941 Schoonmaker avenue, when a fire in the cupboard was making rapid headway. The smoke had been seen issuing from the windows of the building and an alarm turned in by a pedestrian The firemen soon had the flames extinguished by the use of chemicals

The firemen returned to the city hall and were just removing their rubber coats and hats, when the second alarm was sounded. This time the fire was found to be in the cupboard of the waiting room of Dr. F. C. Duvall, 1075 Schoonmaker avenue. However, the fire in this case was practically extinguished upon the arrival of the firemen, due to the combined efforts of patrons and occupants of the building, who former a bucket brigade.

Both physicians were absent at the time of the conflagrations and it is thought that the flames was the handiwork of a patient, who angered by the absence of the physicians, thought he would take revenge in this way.

Marble.

Marble is a product of marine sediments and volcanic fires. It is laid down on the sea bottom as shell heaps, which gradually turn into chalk. If the strata should be deeply buried in the rocks, the intense heat of the earth causes chemical elements to rearrange themselves so that they crys- ... in the chalk give the marble its various hues.

Persistent Bees.

For 20 years a swarm of bees have occupied the back of the school clock at Micheldever, England, and no attempt at removing them has been successful, states a resident of that town. The swarm had been thought destroyed some years ago and the entrance the bees had made was cemented up, but each year they have returned, and they even bored a new hole through the cement.

A merry evening was spent in cards and fancy work, favors being received by Mrs. T C Dillon, Mrs. Edward Reardon and Miss Anna McCann. Plans were made for a euchre to be held in the Lyceum of the church, February 27 Luncheon was served by the hostesses and the members adjourned to meet again at the home of Mrs. William High, Tuesday, February 26.

There was a large attendance of the membership, and several visitors present. Two new members were added to the roll of the society in the persons of Mrs. Charlotte Anthony and Mrs Bertha Pfleghardt. Games, fancy work and refreshments were features of the occasion, the latter served by the hostess, Mrs. Pieper. The decorations of the home and the menu was in keeping with the Valentine season. When adjournment was made, the society agreed to meet at the home of Mrs Myrtle Randolph, in a fortnight. Mrs. Randolph is a resident of Monessen.

Mother Was Particular.

A mistress nursed her maid through a bad attack of measles and then sent her away for a week's holiday. On her return the girl gave notice. "What!" exclaimed the amazed mistress "After I've nursed you through your illness?" "That's just it, mum," replied the girl, "mother's particular anxious that I should be with a lady, and she says no lady would have nursed a servant."

Length of Cubit.

Cubit comes from a Latin word meaning elbow. The cubit is the distance from the elbow to the extremity of the middle finger. Owing to variations in this length in different persons, the following standard cubits were adopted by the ancients. Hebrew, 17.58 inches; Egyptian, 20.61 inches; Romans, 17.4 inches; Greek, 18.25 inches.

Has a Greek Name.

The generic name of the squirrels—Sciurus—is derived from Greek words which mean "a creature that sits under his tail," says Nature Magazine, and this most admirably describes him The tail, however, is not a useless ornament, but serves its owner well in various ways.

Squirrels in Winter.

What do squirrels do in winter? All do not hibernate, says Nature Magazine. To be sure they are not abroad so much, nor are they as active, in the cold weather as during the summer months, but neither the red nor the gray squirrel has any period of continued sleep.

Some Dangers Avoided.

So far not many of the girls are reported as injuring their health by overwork helping their mothers. And it is not claimed either that the boys are usually hurting their eyes by too much studying at night.—Newark Advocate.

Origin of "Best Man."

Tradition relates that a best man was employed in the stone age The bridegroom swooped down upon the home of the bride and stole her away while the best man diverted the attention of the bride's father.

Meaning of "Pekoe."

The name "pekoe" of orange pekoe tea is derived from the Chinese words "Pah ho" which mean "white hairs" and refers to the small white pieces in this tea which look like stems but are the finest part of the leaf.

Curious Web of Water Spider.

The water spider builds its home under water. It collects air on the surface and conveys it underneath. After many journeys there is sufficient air in the web for the spider to remain below for a considerable time.

Balzac a Prodigious Worker.

It was Balzac's boast that "A Woman of Thirty" was finished in a fortnight. This would mean about 20,000 words a week. He was a prodigious worker, and thought nothing of working 18 hours a day.

MODEL BABY---MODEL HOUSE

Jackie Hillcrest, focus of interest in this group, is a waif adopted by the Home Economics Department of the Pennsylvania State College to give the students practical experience in housekeeping, including infant care. The girls live in a model house, equipped with every modern gas and electric appliance. Miss Edith P. Chace (in the circle) is Director of the department.

STATE COLLEGE GIRLS LEARN TO KEEP HOUSE WITH REAL BABY

Jackie Hillcrest, a Waif, Center of Attraction in Model Pennsylvania Home, Where Co-Eds, With Gas and Electric Equipment, Study Arts of Domesticity.

State College, Pa., Jan. 28.—Jackie Hillcrest is at once the luckiest and the unluckiest baby in Pennsylvania. He has twenty-six mothers and yet he has none.

He is lucky in another way, too, for he is a model baby in a model house. All the conveniences of gas and electricity are at his disposal.

A gas heater keeps his room warm. When he has a pain in his stomach, an electric heating pad eases the discomfort. Gas-heated ironing machines, electrically operated, smooth the wrinkles from his bed-linen, previously laundered in an electric washing machine, and electric irons make his little dresses spick and span.

Vacuum cleaners sweep the rugs and remove the dust from the draperies. Electric lights prove a God-send of convenience to his guardians in the middle of the night if Jackie wakes up with a cry of distress. And if that cry should prove the signal for something genuinely wrong with his health, the telephone is at hand to summon a physician.

A word of explanation may now be necessary to give this waif—for Jackie Hillcrest is not his real name—a proper introduction.

Pennsylvania State College has one of the finest Home Economics Departments in the country. Girls from every county in the Commonwealth hurry here every year by train and motor bus to be initiated into the mysteries of cookery and the other arts and sciences contributing to a happy domestic life.

And, incidentally, Miss Edith P. Chace, Director of the Department of Home Economics, regards the purchasing of gas and electricity as being equally important with the buying of meat and other foods.

"I believe people should give the same care to purchasing public utility service as they do to buying provisions," Miss Chace said to a representative of the Pennsylvania Public Service Information Committee.

"We teach our students to know exactly what they are buying and unless they know what they get for their money, it would be impossible for them to make out their budgets."

A gas meter or an electric meter, intricate as each one is, holds no terrors for the young woman. Meters are attached to ranges, irons, washing machines, percolators, heaters, lamps, cleaners, and the girls take readings from the meters in the most accurate way.

The model house, which is Jackie's home, is called Hillcrest Cottage. Here the girls of the senior class live for six weeks at a time. In groups of six the young women study the essentials of good housekeeping, for the cottage has all the installations and furniture of a modern home.

All? Well, until recently the house lacked the one essential of every happy household. It had no baby.

Miss Chace and Miss Ella J. Day, assistant professor of Home Economics, succeeded in getting Jackie to make his home with the practice house students.

So now, Jackie, who is ten months old, can claim for his chief mother, Penn State College, which, in another sense, has been the Alma Mater of nearly eight thousand men and women who have gone from its doors to be professional and business leaders.

In addition Jackie has twenty-five senior girls to mother him and make a fuss over him. However, the young man is just like other babies in that he has only one mother at a time.

With all the conveniences that modern ingenuity can devise, Jackie promises to grow up to be quite a man. He shows his appreciation, too, with gleeful smiles.

The girls make out a schedule of duties and so well does the arrangement work, with the aid of the economical and time-saving gas and electric devices, that the young women have been able to set their table daily with three meals at a cost of less than fifty cents a day for each person.

It is the housekeeper for the week who acts as mother to Jackie. She looks after his bathing, feeding, clothing, airing, sleeping hours, visiting hours and the whole regimen which young royalty must undergo.

His diet is exclusively liquid, which is another characteristic of young fellows of his age. He gets his bottle at 6 and 10 o'clock in the morning, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon and at 6 o'clock in the evening. He has his bath at 8 o'clock in the morning, and then from 10 o'clock until 12.30 o'clock in the afternoon he sleeps on the porch in a strange device known as a "kiddie coop."

Presumably he awakens at 12.30 o'clock, but for what purpose no one could explain clearly, because his round of social duties does not begin until 3 o'clock.

From that hour until 5 o'clock he is "at home." His official visiting hours are crowded, too, for the co-eds and others on the campus flock to Hillcrest Cottage to pay their respects to the popular youth.

And some of the girls say, with a smile, that if Jackie's tastes do not run to athletics he will make an admirable cheer-leader. He can make himself heard.

WASH YOUR LAMPS!

Dirty Globes Cost Ten Per Cent More On Bills.

Unclean electric lamps and reflectors are adding 10 per cent annually to America's lighting bill, according to a recent estimate. To improve lighting in the home and places of business the American Institute of Electrical Engineers advises that all electric globes and reflectors be washed at least four times each year.—Pennsylvania Public Service Information Committee.

IN THE FOURTH STATE

Electric Power Replaces Gasoline in Newspaper Plants.

A decade ago 90 per cent of the country newspapers got their power from and their editors directed great bursts of profanity at gasoline engines. Now 90 per cent of them use electric power.—Pennsylvania Public Service Information Committee.

MODERN FAREWELLS

Leviathan Connected With 14,000,000 Telephones When Ship Docks.

While the giant passenger ship Leviathan is tied at its New York dock its 600 telephones are connected with a pier switchboard through which occupants of any of the liner's staterooms can make connection with any of the 14,000,000 other telephones throughout the whole nation.—Pennsylvania Public Service Information Committee.

WHO SAID POOR FISH?

Electric Lights Attract Many Insects For Piscatorial Menu.

By placing electric lights close to the surface of the water a number of state fish hatcheries throughout the country are helping feed their thousands of fish. The lights attract multitudes of insects and the fish do the rest.—Pennsylvania Public Service Information Committee.

If all the crooks and bandits have not already left Philadelphia—for a season—they are likely to consider the matter now that General Butler proposes a fleet of armored, 75-miles-an-hour motor cars to chase them with.

CHARLES I LED IN ARTCRAFT

Declared He Could Make His Living at Any Trade Save That of Hanging.

"Little Korea, now being urged by its leaders to use only articles of Korean manufacture," says Horace B. Cheny, "is advocating nationalism in art and industry today just as Charles I did during his reign.

"The Jacobean period of decoration has been called the most distinctly national of the English periods; for while largely inspired by Low Country models, it was yet developed originally by English craftsmen. And these had displaced the foreign workers of Elizabethan times.

"The Jacobean period was ushered in with James I, 'The Wisest Fool in Christendom,' but not until the times of Charles, 'saint and martyr,' were its possibilities of beauty fully developed.

"Charles was the spirit of its efflorescence. He, like Francis I and Lorenzo the Magnificent, loved beauty for its own sake. Indeed, he was himself a craftsman, saying of himself, 'I believe I could make my living by any trade save that of making hangings.' The friend of Rubens, the patron of the brilliant Van Dyck, a connoisseur who was also a king—and yet a king, alas, 'who knew all the arts except the

"In his reign, the turned and twisted woodwork of his father's day came to a softer, more delicately crafted beauty, and the characteristics of modern renaissance ornament manifested themselves in geometrically patterned arrangements and a growing use of inlay. The great hall (still the most important feature of the majestic English home), was then indeed a thing of stately splendor—rich with tapestries and hangings, warm with paneling, exquisite with ornamental ceilings, mantelpieces and lofty bay windows."

COMMON PEDDLERS NO MORE

Canvassers and Agents Are Now Known as Specialty Salesmen.

There are no more peddlers, canvassers and agents. At least those engaged in the business of selling from house to house would so have us believe. These gentlemen prefer to be called specialty salesmen, and the custom today is to call any individual a specialty salesman who does not sell for resale—in other words, who sells directly to the consumer.

The specialty salesman of today who sells from house to house is not the canvasser or peddler of yesteryear. In fact, there is a wide difference in the methods employed, the characteristics of the individual and in the method of selection of the individual. In some remote and more or less isolated cases, however, the old style of selling is still used to some degree. As a general rule, however, the specialty salesman is better educated, better fed, better clothed and a far more clever salesman than the agent of a decade ago.

Not that some of the old-style agents and canvassers were slouches at selling! Far from it. As a matter of fact, many of the old-timers were very smooth articles, and their very smoothness and adroitness made them individuals worth watching.—Nation's Business.

Stamp of Approval.

There's a certain man who is well known as a tyrant in his office but a very docile husband at home. The contrast is so decided that a friend finally asked if he were a sort of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde.

"No," said the man, "and I'll let you in on the secret. The gas company is really to blame.

"We had been getting the same-sized gas bill month after month; just the same number of cubic feet consumed, and I began to figure that there must be something wrong with the meter and wrote the gas company about it. They inspected the meter and then wrote to me saying:

"'There is nothing wrong with the meter. It merely goes to show that you have a well-ordered and regularly conducted household routine.'

"And I, like a chump, showed the letter to my wife, and she hasn't let me have a thing to say about running the house ever since."

Too High Up to See Him.

A man about town meeting a friend who had recently become a judge extended his congratulations and then said: "And I will now tell you good-by."

"Why," asked his honor; "are you going away?"

"No."

"Neither am I. So why this good-by?"

"It is this way," explained the party of the first part. "I have known many men who became judges, governors or what not. After their elevation very few of them were able to see me again."

Shakespeare Had Vision.

"What a man Shakespeare wuz," said the man on the train.

"What has aroused your admiration now?" inquired his seat mate.

"You know he speaks of a woeful ballad to a lady's eyebrows," answered the other.

"Have you noticed the eyebrows lately?"

"Yes."

JAPAN EXPRESSES GRATITUDE TO U. S.

The United States Government is one of the world powers to receive a mark of gratitude from Japan because of its aid to fire and earthquake sufferers, in the form of a unique book of extraordinary size, bound in gold embossed velour, containing the signature of many thousands of Japanese of all classes. A letter accompanied the book which expressed the grateful [illegible] of the Japanese people towards this country.

The editor of the Vossiche Zeitung is quoted as saying that the German people are suffering from "twilight of the brain," that they "still have the idea that they have not lost the war," and that they are getting farther away from the reparations problem than ever. This "twilight" was remarked by outsiders shortly after the armistice, and if even representative Germans have now begun to notice it there may be some hope of

9,000 Employes Are Involved In The Controversy

Harrisurg, Feb. 8—(United Press)—Approximately 9,000 state employes are involvedin the controversy no ragingw between Auditor General Lewis and Secretary of the Commonwealth King over the manner of electing two of their number to sit on the State Retirement Board in accordance with the state employes retirement act of 1923.

Dr. King, who is acting chairman of the board does not want a "premature election" and has askedd for the creation of an "advisory committee" composed of one representative from each department to voice their claims" on all amtters pertaining to employes and to rulings made by the attorney general or by the board."

Auditor General Lewis has advised that such a course is contrary to law and unless an election is held immediately he will be compelled "to withhold recognition of the payment of any requisitions from the funds.

The Board at present is composed of Secretary King, Mrs. Mary Lachenmeyer, of Lansdowne, appointed by the governor and State Treasurer Snyder, who attended the organization meeting and has not to any subsequent meeting of the board. Leon Henderson, who was in charge of standardization work, is secretary.

In defiance of the auditor general's warning, Henderson said today that an election will not be held until a majority of the employes have joined the system.

"The applications are coming in at the rate of 400 a week," hesaid. "In six weeks time there will be a majority of the 9,000 eligible for membership prepared to vote and the election will then be held."

At the present time, he pointed out, 2,500 employes have accepted retirement benefits. Efforts are now being made to bring employes of the various state institutions within the terms of the act. This group represents only 3 per cent of the total that have oinjed, according to Henderson's figures.

Governor Pinchot has been advised of the controversy between Lewis and King and he may step in to decide the questions in dispute ,although it is understood theplan as proposed by King has his endorsement as the most representative method of inaugurating the new system.

State Treasurer Snyder, the minority member of the Board at the present time, is an onlooker in this situation. He merely smiles when the subject is mentioned and says nothing.

MELLON DENIES BREWER'S CHARGES TREASURY LOOTING

Washington, Feb. 8. — (United Press).—The bureau of engraving scandal involving alleged looting of the treasury through duplication of war bonds will be aired on the House floor today.

Representative La Guardia, New York, a member of the Progressive group, demanding action on the sensational charges by Charles B. Brewer, department of justice investigator, in his suit against Secretary Mellon and Attorney General Daugherty, is ready to tell what he found n Brewer's evidence.

Meanwhile, a non-partisan committee is drafting a resolution ordering an investigation of Brewer's charges of a $1,000,000 bond fraud.

Members of this committee are: Representative La Guardia, Woodruff, Michigan, and Jefferson, Alabama. The committee held a conference with Republican leader Longworth late yesterday.

"Longworth was deeply interested," said Representative King, Illinois, who holds the keys to the safe deposit vault where Brewer's evidence is stored. It is this evidence that he seeks to prevent the department of justice from seizing and with which he expects to prove his charges.

Denial by Secretary Mellon yesterday of Brewer's charges has not altered the determination of the Progressive group to give the charges a thorough airing in Congress. King is particularly confident that the charges can be sustained.

"One look at the duplicated bonds in the Senate deposit vault is enough to convince any doubter," he said.

Meanwhile the Senate may take a hand. Senator Caraway, Arkansas, champion of the 28 officials of the bu reau discharged by the late President Harding, is restive over the delay in restoring the men to their former positions.

night during the week a public mass meeting will be held. At this time the Legion hopes to secure the services of Leo Collins, state commander, who will present the subject with equal fairness, to the people.

Next week a campaign for new members will be instituted by the local post, Theodore Jones and Michael [illegible] will attempt to win the state cup to be given at the coming convention at Greensburg to the Post having the greatest percentage of new members.

It was decided at last night's meeting that there would be no Memorial services held for the late Woodrow Wilson, until the National organization has set a date for that purpose.

AMERICAN BIBLES TO BE WEDDING GIFTS FOR JAPANESE CROWN PRINCE REGENT AND PRINCESS NEGAKO

Employes of the American Bible Society, at Bible House, New York, are seen holding two exquisitely printed and bound copies of the Holy Bible, which will be among the wedding gifts presented to Crown Prince Hirohito, Regent and future Mikado of Japan, and his bride, now Princess Nagako Kuni, when they are united on February 8. Beautiful cases for the books are seen on table in foreground. The Japanese Royal marriage was originally scheduled for last November; but was postponed because of the great earthquake.

FIRE HITS THE SAME HOUSE THREE TIMES

Belle Vernon and North Belle Vernon police are working on a mysterious case presented to them by the replica of a fire, occurring three times at the same house, a two-story, six room building, located at the southeastern end of Belle Vernon, known as "Seldom Seen," and occupied by John Neal and family, and owned by the father of Mr. Neal, J. A. Neal.

The first fire was on Sunday morning between the hours of 8:30 and 9 o'clock, and was of unknown origin. The North Belle Vernon and Belle Vernon departments were called and squelched the flames. The family, in the meantime, moved; the residence since Sunday has been unoccupied.

Last night at 9 o'clock a fire again broke out in the house, which gutted the residence; the fire departments named above again being called, and put out the fire; and again this morning at 6:30 flames were seen emanating from the structure, and again they were squelched by the firemen in reference.

UNCONTROLLED MACHINE DASHES INTO OTHERS

A large truck owned by the Charleroi Supply Company skidded on the icy bricks on Lock Hill about 9 o'clock this morning and caused quite a little excitement among onlookers. The wheels of the car locked and rendered the driver helpless in his attempt to control his machine. At this time Joseph Elias of Charleroi and Dr. A. S. Sickman of Lock Four were on their way up the hill, the former in the lead. Being unable to get out of the way of the approaching car the two men turned their cars into the curb, but too late, as the truck was already upon them. The fenders on both cars were damaged, but none of the occupants was hurt. The car then continued on its way to the foot of the hill where it was brought to a standstill.

A CONSTABLE MUST SWEAR OFF BOOZE

E. E. Miller, constable of West Bethlehem township entered a plea of guilty to driving an automobile while intoxicated, before Judge Erwin Cummins yesterday afternoon. He was fined $200 and the costs and paroled on condition that he refrain from drinking for a period of one year.

The prosecution was made by Bert Morrison, an officer of the Ontario Coal company, who stated to the court that Mr. Miller had been constable in that township for the past 22 years and was an efficient officer. His principal failing was that he sometimes became intoxicated.

On the occasion which led to his arrest he had got off the road with his car, but had done no damage to any one, but himself. The company, he said, was not anxious to prosecute the constable, but felt that some action was necessary to protect him from himself.

Mr. Miller, who is 63 years of age, and is also assessor of the township readily agreed to the terms of the court order and said that he now realized that booze and gasoline would not mix.
